Homestead Is Left Behind

Miss Keim, who will be 60 on Sept. 29, conceded frankly that financial necessity led to the sale. "It was going to be a big loss," she said yesterday. "She's leaving the 11 room house at 602 High street, which her father

"The Lord will provide." That's what Marjorie Taylor Keim, 602 High street, appears to be thinking as she moves from her huge 11-room house to a converted garage at the rear of her property. Because her income has dwindled to $10 a week, she sold the house which her father built when her mother was a bride.

HIGH TAXES YOU SAY?

Note Upswing of School Project Costs

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

If you wonder why school taxes make your pocketbook nerve tingle and why Pottstown school directors often have a worried look, you might consider the phenomenal rise of school-building costs since the days of the little red school-house.

Most of the ancient data on Pottstown school buildings isn't much help, because it either lists the cost of the school without listing the size, or lists the size without listing the cost.

But Linford F. Meyer, secretary of the borough school district, uncovered records dating back to 1887 that mentioned both cost and size.

In that year, he learned, Pottstown's school directors had a four-room addition built to the front of the Washington school, the high school it had just built then new, at Walnut and Penn streets.

Although the rooms were very large, with high ceilings, and although the cost included the expensive work of attaching new walls and making changes in the old ones, the total cost was only $14,083, or about $3000 a room.

TODAY, it was estimated by Meyer and Charles Bickler, architect for Sanders and Thomas incorporated, who designed the new West End elementary school, the cost per room of building schools is $15,000—and up, and with no fancy work involved.

The oldest available information on costs of furnishing a Pottstown schoolroom dates back to 1897. In that year, the local school she said, she sold the property to James Marousi, proprietor of the Sandwich King, High and Charlotte streets, who will convert the home into apartments.

As part of the arrangement, she said, Marousi agreed to convert the little building at the rear of the property and let her live in it for the rest of her life.

Far from regarding the loss of the house as a calamity, she said, "I'm telling you, brother, it's a big load off my shoulders—no more rent, no more taxes, no more bother if there's a leak."

AS ANOTHER example of her good fortune, she said yesterday morning, she was going to leave for Florida in the afternoon.

"I've been working 20 hours out of the past 24 moving things around," she said, "and I'm desperately tired." (She didn't sound it.) I'm really looking forward to this rest."

"This rest" will be driving a car, with a trailer hooked behind, for a woman friend who is going to stay in Florida. In exchange, the friend will pay all Miss Keim's expenses.

After taking the friend's trailer to Pensacola, she'll drive right back to Pottstown.

After "this rest," she said, she'll get back to the job of trying to get as many of her treasured possessions as possible arranged in her little home.

FORTUNATELY, the little building behind the house had a cellar. "I think my cellar's stocked up to the joists," she reported.

Among the many things she's taken with her are a handcarved bedroom suite, another big bedroom suite, three wardrobes, a big old work table, other tables, chairs, bric-a-brac and magazines.

Some of her treasured possessions friends are storing for her. Other friends have bought from her. Among the latter is the family's old grand piano, which she said the great Ignace Paderewski, played when he appeared in Pottstown's old opera house.

These heirlooms were accumulated by her family in the days when both the Keims (for whom Keim street is named) and the Taylors (on her mother's side) were well-to-do iron masters or landowners.

Of her younger years, she recalled, "I didn't have to ask the price of things then. I'd just say."

State Street Section Will Get Stakes for New Curbing Today

Stakes for new curbing on State street from Sixth street to Reynolds avenue will be installed today.

Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden yesterday said, "If the weather's right we should get around to the job tomorrow."

"Highway committee will meet at 6:45 o'clock Monday night before council meeting to study bids on curbs we must replace. The street is being widened from 24 feet to 30 feet and where curbs have been installed the borough will construct new curbs three feet back from present ones."

"Where sidewalks are removed new ones will be built."

Eleven of the more than 30 owners on State street between Reynolds and Sixth now have curbs in front of their properties. Several of these are narrow properties.

THE STATE has appropriated money for paving State street providing the borough installs curbing.

In cases where there is no curbing the borough has directed owners to install curbs. At least seven of these owners have requested a contractor to do the work. The borough has not asked residents to construct sidewalks at this time.

THE SUPERVISORS meeting in the township building, also discussed the "horse and buggy" road that passes the New Berlinville hotel, where a serious automobile accident occurred early in July. They decided to remove an overhanging tree near the hotel and put up more safety signs.

Wersler said they would like to widen the road there too, but a property owner refused to change his curbing.

The supervisors have completed one and one-tenth miles of blacktop road near Route 73 and have resurfaced one and a half miles.

President John Hartman conducted last night's meeting.

ATTORNEY HIRED Elizabeth Sweeney Returns as Local Nursing School Educational Director

Washington Road Board Opposes Move by Bechtelsville

Opposing annexation proceedings by the borough of Bechtelsville, Washington road board last night said it has hired an attorney to study legality of the action.

Attorney Thomas Leidy, of Boyertown, has been chosen to study the legality of the move.

The property involved includes about 10 acres of land along Route 100 southeast of Bechtelsville in Washington township.

The three road board members said that residents living within the 10-acre strip have been wanting to become a part of the borough for some time.

IN VOICING its opposition to the move, there are two points supervisors have taken into consideration: (1) Such action would mean a decrease in revenue and (2) There would be less road work to do.

Route 100, a State road, would probably be maintained by the supervisors, but roads leading to it would be maintained by the borough if the annexation would become effective.

Colebrookdale Board To Battle Annexation Of Township Land

Colebrookdale supervisors will protest the annexation of 60 acres of township land by Boyertown, they decided last night.

"Loss of the land would reduce our revenue," said Henry Wersler, secretary-treasurer of the township board. "That's why we are objecting."

The 60 acres includes the Isaac Stauder farm and parts of the Campbell and Helmick properties.

So far, the property owners have not objected to annexation, Wersler said.

THE SUPERVISORS meeting in the township building, also discussed the "horse and buggy" road that passes the New Berlinville hotel, where a serious automobile accident occurred early in July. They decided to remove an overhanging tree near the hotel and put up more safety signs.

Wersler said they would like to widen the road there too, but a property owner refused to change his curbing.

100 Percent Hike For Rent Champion Too Much, He Says

A 100 percent rental increase was too much for one Pottstown tenant. He turned in his key when rates were hiked from $40 to $80 after Federal controls were lifted this past Friday.

He reported yesterday he has moved from his apartment in the 500 block of High street to new quarters.

Councilman William B. Twaddell, High and Washington streets, who received a 90-day eviction notice Monday, reported yesterday that other tenants of Charles and Miriam Gultanoff, 1210 South street, had their rents hiked.

He said, "I can report the following increases. One renter had his rates increased from $35 to $55. Another person's rates went from $37.80 to $60. A third had his rent upped to $75 from $44."

"I HEARD of a $7 raise from $45 to $52 in the Hanover apartments, 11 North Hanover street. This was a reasonable increase, and certainly none of us here would have complained had our boosts been as fair."

"It's a seven-room apartment. That increase represents only $1 a room."

Twaddell, Fourth Ward Democrat, led the fight for extension of rent control in the borough from April until the Federal law expired this past Friday.

Elizabeth J. Sweeney, who left Pottstown hospital's school of nursing three years ago as an instructor but who never severed her friendships there, has returned as educational director of the nursing school.

Miss Sweeney said, "I suppose I should feel a little funny at coming back to a place once I'd left it, but I really don't. It's very nice to renew old acquaintances. I always liked the people here. Since I left, I've always been back periodically for a visit."

Miss Sweeney left Pottstown in June of 1950 to go to Graduate hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, as assistant director of nurses.

The past year she went to Abington Memorial hospital as nurse instructor.

Miss Sweeney was persuaded to return to Pottstown by A. C. Seawell, administrator, who is leaving clinical instructor. It was a return there, too, since she is a graduate of Abington's nursing school and worked there for two years after her graduation.

In her post as educational director—a relatively new one on a full-time basis—her job is to arrange the program of studies, assign nurse instructors and obtain services (free) of Pottstown area physicians who instruct special classes.

MISS SWEENEY said the nursing school is a little cramped now because of adjustments necessary while the building program is underway. The new nursing school has priority on the building program.

"When it's finished," she said, "we'll have a very nice setup. Pottstown for Butler next month. She succeeds Veronica Mitchell, who resigned."

A native Philadelphian, Miss Sweeney holds a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing education.

Six-Year-Old Boy Signals False Alarm

A 6-year-old boy brought Pottstown's three fire companies, dozens of firemen and motorists and hundreds of pedestrians hurrying to High and Green streets early last night.

The little boy crawled onto the shoulders of a companion and pulled Box 1341 at High and Green streets, fire officials reported.

He then stood by in bewildered while people rushed to the scene of the false alarm.

Borough Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer said equipment from the Empire Hook and Ladder, the Good Wills and Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine companies raced to the site.

The alarm is five feet from the ground. It was pulled several minutes past 6 o'clock. It was not known last night whether action would be taken against the child.

POW FREED; AREA FAMILY IS OVERJOYED

His Name Is Among First Group Released

PHOENIXVILLE FAMILY IS BESIEGED BY CALLS

The family of Pfc. Andrew J. Viscuso, 47 Dayton street, Phoenixville, was probably the happiest one in the Pottstown area last night.

News that Pfc. Viscuso was among the first Americans released by the Reds since the Korea truce was ample reason for their joy.

"I wasn't expecting it tonight," said Mrs. Nicholas Viscuso, mother of the former prisoner, when she was informed of his release early last night.

"He had been sick with the flu in a Red hospital," she explained. "We knew from his letters that got through, even though they were censored."

THE GOOD news of Pfc. Viscuso's release spread quickly in the industrial district where his parents live, and the living room of their little two-story house was soon overflowing with friends.

Other friends bent on congratulating the family milled about on the sidewalk outside.

Pfc. Viscuso, an infantryman, was a prisoner of the North Korean Reds for 27 months.

His 19-year-old brother, Nicholas, told the Mercury last night that the family had just got a letter from him the past week.

"That's the first we learned that he was sick," he explained, "although he had written the letter the past May."

He added that the letter was not heavily censored, probably because it had been carefully worded.

"We heard the good news of his release first from friends who called on the 'phone," the brother said. "They had seen the news flash on television."

He said that other friends soon called from Chester and Philadelphia.

"We got a call from my sister, Mrs. Mary Yannette, in Boundbrook, N. J., too," he remarked.

FRIENDS who pushed into the tiny living room hugged Mrs. Viscuso and shared with her the joy of knowing that "Tommy" (a family nickname) was free, the brother said.

The soldier's father, Nicholas, was steered out the door by those (Continued on Page Three)

Mercury Will Climb, Weatherman Says

August, promised month of pressure cooker heat, is making Brother July look like a scoundrel. A chill dampness was conducive to good sleeping against last night. In the early morning a brief drizzle wet borough sidewalks.

The temperature story could be told in three figures. From 4 a. m. to 11 a. m. thermometers read 67. From 2 to 7 p. m. it was 72 and at 1 p. m. and from 8 to 11 p. m. it was 72. There was only six degrees variation throughout the day.

The weatherman predicts warmer weather today.

Soviet Union Accepts West's Invitation For Big Four Talks to Ease Tensions

MOSCOW, Wednesday, Aug. 5 (AP) — The Soviet Union today accepted the West's invitation to a Big Four foreign ministers' conference, but said Red China's participation was "essential" for easing of world tension.

In notes delivered yesterday to the ambassadors of Britain, France and the United States, the Kremlin proposed a two-point agenda for the conference:

1. Discussion of "measures to decrease international tension."
2. Discussion of the German problem "including re-establishment of the unity of Germany and the conclusion of a peace treaty."

SEN. KNOWLAND GETS NOD AS SENATE LEADER

Californian Wins Post In Unanimous Vote

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — Republican senators unanimously elected Sen. William F. Knowland of California as majority leader today at a session that was described as completely harmonious.

Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan was named to succeed Knowland as chairman of the GOP Policy Committee. The vacancies in the key legislative posts resulted from the death of the past Friday of Majority Leader Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

At 45, Knowland is one of the youngest men named to fill that post in recent years. He had been acting majority leader under appointment by Taft since the Ohioan was forced to give up active direction of the Senate legislative program.

Today's selections had been anticipated, but the harmonious action at a closed-door session attended by 39 of the 46 Republicans now serving followed a minor intra-party dispute that broke out in the open yesterday.

Seven Republicans, led by Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, senior party member in Senate service, and Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, yesterday had urged a delay until January in election of a permanent successor to Taft. Neither attended the meeting.

Two senators, Capehart and Jenner, who supported this delaying tactic without direct opposition to Knowland, attended today's closed conference.

Jenner, as he pushed his way through reporters after the meeting, was asked if anyone sought a delay.

"Everything was unanimous," he said. "It was just one big happy family."

Senator Millikin (R-Colo.), who presided as chairman of the Republican conference, quickly confirmed this, saying there has been no other nominations.

Taft's place on the policy committee was not filled nor were choice committee assignments left vacant by the death of Senator Tobey (R-NH). They probably will be decided before the next session in January.

Jet Bomber Makes England-Florida Hop

MAC DILL AFB, Tampa, Fla., Aug. 4 (AP) — An Air Force B47 jet bomber flew here non-stop from England today in 9 hours 33 minutes.

Its average speed for the 4430-mile flight—the longest known jet hop on record in distance between points of takeoff and landing—was 434 (statute) miles an hour.

The six-jet Boeing, the world's fastest known bomber, topped off (filled) its fuel tanks off the southern tip of Ireland, by refueling from a Boeing KC97 tanker airplane.

The 55-ton plane left an airbase near Fairford, Eng., 80 miles west of London, at 6 a. m. It put down at MacDill at 3:33 p. m.

This same B47 flew just a week ago from Goose Bay, Labrador, to Fairford in the record-breaking time of 4 hours 14 minutes for the 2450-mile distance.

Sen. Martin Opposes Ike's Nomination Of W. Wilson White as US Attorney

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — Sen. Edward Martin disclosed today he will oppose President Eisenhower's nomination of W. Wilson White to be US attorney for Eastern Pennsylvania.

White, a Philadelphia attorney, was recommended by Sen. James H. Duff. Martin's opposition, made known through an aide, points up a long-standing disagreement among some of Pennsylvania's leading Republicans over patronage and other party matters.

The Martin aide said the senator had made known his stand by telling Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell he will oppose the nomination before the Senate Judiciary committee and on the Senate floor.

While the aide said Martin gave no reason for his opposition, the Philadelphia Bulletin quoted the senator as saying: "Mr. White is a good lawyer and a fine man and his father is one of my oldest friends. However, I wanted a lawyer who had more experience along the lines required for a United States District Attorney."

DUFF SAID in a statement that White "is an able and competent lawyer of fine character."

He added: "At the University of Pennsylvania I had the distinction of being editor in chief of the Pennsylvania Law Review. He is a veteran of the Second World War. Wilson White is eminently suited for this high office. The great backlog of cases in the Eastern district requires immediate action. White can and will do the job."

Martin's candidate for the post had been Frank Murdoch, also a Philadelphia lawyer.

White's nomination was sent to the Senate yesterday, but the Senate did not act upon it. All nominations not acted on expire automatically 30 days after Congress adjourns. The President, however, could give White a recess appointment which would still have to be submitted to the Senate when Congress reconvenes.

Murdoch, Martin's choice for the post, is understood also to have the backing of Gov. John S. Fine, G. Vason Owlett, Pennsylvania GOP national committeeman, and William J. Hamilton Jr., city GOP chairman in Philadelphia.

SENATOR TAFT GOES HOME—The casket bearing the body of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is borne down the steps of the national Capitol to a waiting hearse by military pallbearers after the state memorial service in the Capitol rotunda. The nation's top civic, judicial, diplomatic and military figures led by President Eisenhower paid final tribute to "Mr. Republican" in the Washington rites. The body was flown to Cincinnati, Taft's hometown for burial yesterday.

No Pomp, No Dramatics in Ceremony Committing Body of Sen. Taft to Earth

CINCINNATI, Aug. 4 (AP) — The body of Sen. Robert A. Taft was committed to the earth today in a simple ceremony.

There was no pomp, no dramatics.

His was the first to be buried in the new plot of the Indian Hill church cemetery, where no grass is growing.

As the public paid tribute downtown, the families and close friends gathered in the little church in Indian Hill—15 miles away from the city proper—to say a mostly calm goodbye to the Senator.

As in the case in Washington and later in downtown Cincinnati, the bronze casket was not opened.

They waited until the last minute to wheel invalid Mrs. Taft, the wife and mother of four sons, into the little church. With a physician at her side and sometimes holding her hand, she withstood the 30 minutes of simple ceremony with dignity and just a few tears.

IT WAS when the tears rolled down her cheeks that the doctor was most concerned. Mrs. Taft quickly composed herself as her children—William Howard 3d, ambassador to Ireland; Robert A. Jr.; Lloyd B. and Horace D.—looked anxiously on.

The sons and their wives were grave as the Rev. Luther Tucker said:

"Almighty God, at whose word man goeth forth to his work and his labor until evening, we offer unto Thee high praise and hearty thanks for the faith and virtue which Thou has manifested in all Thy servants, who by their lives and labors have shone forth as lights in their several generations."

"More especially we call to remembrance Thy faithfulness and truth manifest in the life of this Thy servant, who in every work that he began, did it with all his heart as unto Thee . . . for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God; for the steadfast honesty which brought new esteem to public office, for courage in tribulation, and victory through defeat."

White had the distinction of being editor in chief of the Pennsylvania Law Review. He is a veteran of the Second World War. Wilson White is eminently suited for this high office. The great backlog of cases in the Eastern district requires immediate action. White can and will do the job."

6000 RAIDERS SMASHED BACK IN WEST REICH

Free Food Stations Defended by Germans

BERLIN, Aug. 4 (AP) — Six thousand Communist raiders were smashed back with clubs and water guns today by police commandos rushed to defend American free food stations in West Berlin.

More than 100 Red storm troops were carted off to jail, some with bleeding heads, after 30-minute street battles in the US and French sectors. Seventy-five were identified as oldtime trouble-makers and booked for further investigation. The others were released.

Two policemen were injured in the fighting, which flared at midday after the Communists had slipped "action brigades" by subway from the Soviet sector to West Berlin.

Small police details regularly assigned to the food distribution centers were overwhelmed by the Red rioters. With sirens screaming, commando platoon cars and truck-borne water guns raced into action.

IT WAS the East German Government's most brazen attempt to wreck the give-away food program for East Berlin needy. The Government cut off American relief for the 18 million Germans in the surrounding Soviet zone by blocking rail and highway communications to the city Saturday night. Only a few thousands have evaded the police barriers around Berlin since then.

The Communists put youngsters from the blue-shirted Free German Youth (FDJ) and women into the front line of their attack.

'IT'S A BAD SITUATION' Turnpike Truck Drivers Flood Police With Pleas for Permits to Carry Guns

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4 (AP) — A maniac's midnight murder rampage on the Pennsylvania turnpike brought a flood of requests from truck drivers today for gun-carrying permits. State police were concerned, declaring "it's a bad situation."

Many drivers were reported carrying guns and using the greatest discretion about where they stopped since the killing of two truckers on the super toll highway and wounding of another as they slept in their cabs. For the second time in two days a trucker reported being shadowed by a mysterious automobile.

Driver Clyde N. Ware, 31, New Castle, Del., was arrested at Lancaster for having a .32 revolver on the seat of his truck. He insisted the weapon was for protection due to the pike slayings. But he was held under bail just the same.

Lancaster police disclosed they are being swamped with applications from truckers to carry firearms but said all are being refused. State police reported similar pleas to sheriff's offices in other sections. Said Capt. Jack R. Dodson of the Greensburg barracks:

"It's a bad situation. We're trying to discourage it. A lot of people could be killed by trigger-happy truck drivers."

THE SHERIFF'S office in Pittsburgh got many calls for information about how to get gun permits. But callers haven't been following through.

It's a complicated process. You've got to get a letter from the chief peace officer in your community. There's also fingerprinting, a search for possible criminal records and finally ballistic tests of the gun for police records.

As the manhunt went out without success, another shaken trucker told a tale of being shadowed in the early morning hours in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Eugene Israel, 33, Philadelphia, hailed a policeman in Norristown and told he had been followed for several miles by a two-tone, hard-top convertible.

The car, sometimes blinking its light as if signaling a stop, trailed him eastbound on Route 422 to the outskirts of Norristown, five miles from the eastern pike terminus.

DETAILS of the car bore a close resemblance to the one that figured in the near-fatal shooting of truck driver John Shepherd, 34, West Alexander, Pa., near Lisbon, O., the past Friday.

He was shot in the head just as Lester B. Woodward, 30, of near Harrisburg, and Harry F. Pitts, 39, Bowling Green, Va., who met death—both with their shoes off—while sleeping on the turnpike.

The Route 422 Israel traveled was the same that Charles Watts, Lawrenceburg, Ind., said he was on when a yellow or tan station wagon shadowed him for miles Sunday.

NEW THEATER OPENS TONIGHT

Pottstonian Manages Drive - in Near Limerick

A Pottstown native will open the spick and spacious new drive-in theater along Route 422, near Limerick tonight.

Lee Kline, a 1917 graduate of Pottstown High school, is manager of the new William Goldman theater, in Upper Providence township.

And when moviegoers stream to the theater, two miles west of Collegeville, tonight they will be received in true Hollywood style.

Miss Highway, a gorgeous brunet (they're keeping her name secret) will greet movie fans in an evening gown when they motor into the hardsurface driveways at the big theater.

The new theater is the first modern drive-in in the area. It will be open daily from 7 p. m. and will present two complete shows.

FACILITIES include a 60-foot screen, projection machines using new-type arc lamps, the newest type sound equipment, a refreshment pavilion, modern rest rooms and a children's playground.

Management of the new theater will be Kline's first venture with William Goldman. He managed for Warner Brothers for 21 years and before that owned his own theaters.

For his assistant he has chosen Ammon L. Mauger, 27 East Seventh street. Mauger cut his teeth in the theater business as an usher with Kline in 1931.

82-Year-Old Does Delicate Needlepoint

Mrs. Mary T. Latshaw, of 1154 Queen street, doesn't let the fact she'll be 82 years old today keep her from being an active sewer.

Her eyesight has remained strong enough so that she even can do delicate needlepoint without aid. She also makes more standard items such as house slippers and aprons.

A daughter, Mrs. Stella Mauger, 1154 Queen street, said, "Her main pride and joy is sewing for Brownbacks (Reformed) church ladies aid." Whenever there's a quilting bee there, the 82-year-old goes.

Mrs. Latshaw is the widow of Elias Latshaw, who was a farmer on Spring City RD for many years. She moved to the daughter's home two years ago. Although she was ill several years ago, her health has been good since.

Green Lane Council Hires Policeman for First Time in Decade

For the first time in more than a decade, Green Lane will have a policeman to patrol its streets.

Action was taken last night at the meeting of borough council to hire Arthur Simon, also a police officer at Red Hill, to patrol the Green Lane area.

Council also voted to engage Attorney William Muganir, of Norristown, as its new solicitor.

Council President Joseph L. Ebnott said the borough would seek bids on the chipping and tarring of Second street and completion of the street, build a road bridge between Walnut and Green streets, and reconstruct Meadow alley.

He reported that letters warning residents to trim weeds along roadways and traffic signs have been sent out.

Other members of council present were: Howard Buck, Claude Wolford, William Van Fossen, Charles Yoder, William Wright, Paul Hunsberger, treasurer, and Mrs. Jane Yoder, secretary.

a period at the ranch.

"We feel the Christian-type training boys will receive at the camp will be much better than sending them to reform school where they may really learn crime."

The ranch initially will be operated for boys 10 to 14 years of age.

The ranch is paying $30,000 for the Clemmens farm and has deposited $30,000.

In his letter being sent to clubs and organizations Haman points out, "Our architect and builder are working on plans for ranch houses. We intend to give our boys a home environment and plan erection of substantial homes, each to house 15 boys, together with a house mother and dad."

"They estimate cost per home to be about $30,000 and we hope to begin construction on two units shortly after Oct. 1."

"At this point we need $20,000 to purchase our property and $60,000 to get into actual operation. We need cash gifts now. They are tax deductible."

A spokesman for Local Board 110 yesterday reported August calls for inductees and pre-induction physicals have not been received.

Clerk R. Ross Longaker of the local board was reported in an "improved" condition at his home last night.

Longaker has been away from his desk several months. He returned from Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia this past June 3, and later underwent an operation in Pottstown hospital.

He is expected back in his office in several weeks.

PUPIL INFLUX EXPECTED BY DOUGLASS BOARD

Members Vote to Hold Classes in Halls At 2 Schools

Because of a large influx of pupils in First and Second grades expected during the 1953-1954 school term, the Douglass school board (Berks county) last night voted to hold classes in the halls at both of its schools.

Secretary of the board said two additional teachers will also be hired to meet the demands of the increase.

According to the board there will be 62 pupils at the Pine Forge school and 37 at the Colebrookdale school in the first two grades.

The board further decided to send its bus drivers for their physical examinations this morning in preparation to driving the school buses to Oley for inspection later today.

ONE NEW driver, Rally Rhoads, was hired for the school term. The other driver is Allen N. Spoon. Grant Levensgood was mentioned by the board as a possible utility driver.

Action was taken to grant pupils moving out of the district four weeks before the end of the term to remain with the school until they have completed their work.

Included in the treasurer's report submitted by Clyde Sites was a budget of $2759 as of July 1 when the auditors completed the books.

Both the treasurer and the secretary were granted access to the board's safe deposit box at the Farmer's bank in Boyertown, where the members also decided to carry on banking for the coming school year.

IT WAS further decided to allow the tax collector a 3 percent commission on all taxes collected during July and August and a 5 percent commission for taxes collected thereafter.

The board okayed a motion to erect school bus stop signs throughout the area, and to have constructed bus stop shelters at the cost of $100 apiece.

Secretary Mease was authorized to advertise for "gas" and oil bids.

President Irwin Romich, who presided, announced there will be a special meeting of the board Tuesday, Aug. 11, at 8 p. m. in the Colebrookdale school building.

More than 4000 species of plants are found in Great Smoky National park.

The young, unmarried soldier has been in the Army since October of 1950.

"Operation Switch" will continue in Korea today with 392 Americans scheduled for release by the Reds.

The second day of the prisoner exchange will begin at 9 a. m. (8 p. m. Pottstown time).

Vandals Hurl Stone Through Window; Overturn Shelter

Early morning vandals with a distorted sense of humor hurled a sharp stone through the front window of a Douglass township (Berks county) home it was reported yesterday.

Douglass township Chief of Police Edgar Bush last night said he was investigating the window-breaking incident at the home of Emil Sonders, near Pine Forge.

A light-colored, sandstone rock, about the size of a chicken egg crashed through two panes of plate glass and a venetian blind of the Sander living room early Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Sonders was aroused from a deep slumber, in a room adjacent to the front room, when the stone sprayed broken glass over the floor and knocked a five-inch jagged hole in the heavy glass.

JUST AFTER the last tinkle of glass a car engine roared off in the early morning air.

Chief Bush reported the Sonders have no known enemies.

The chief is working on another township mystery.

He is trying to corral the mischief makers who upset a frame shelter for bus-transported children along Squirrel Hollow road.

The shelter is situated approximately a block and a half north of Route 422 on the road. It weighs between 800 and 900 pounds.

Bush explained, "It would take a group of persons to pull the stunt. We usually have trouble like this on Halloween, but never in the Summer."

"I hope to uncover something on both cases in the next few days."

The Slowpoke on the Highway

A "Reader" wrote to The Mercury and his letter was published yesterday saying slowpokes are highway menaces.

Speeders still are the major factor in traffic accidents, argues the correspondent in his letter. No doubt he's right. Last year drivers were exceeding the speed limit in accidents which caused 15,430 deaths on American roads and 385,980 injuries.

But the slowpokes also are a real problem
on the highway.

Pennsylvania, along with most other states, has a law which says a motorist may not unnecessarily impede the normal movement of traffic. It's a hard law to enforce.

Where traffic is heavy, highway patrolmen sometimes flag down a slow driver and try to talk sense to him.

An arrest, however, would be difficult to sustain. Some drivers are capable only of going slowly.

On its new Gulf Freeway, the city of Houston, Texas, is trying out a minimum-maximum speed regulation in an effort to reduce accidents. Minimum speed is 40 miles per hour, maximum 50.

Some other special roads also have minimum speeds. Yet setting a minimum for all state highways would be difficult, for road and weather and vehicle and driver conditions vary so much.

The Houston experiment is based on a growing conviction among highway safety authorities that it is the differential in speeds which makes for trouble.
The safest conditions prevail when all traffic on a road is moving at about the same speed. Then passing is eliminated.

If the approximately 10 percent who are speeders could be slowed down and the 10 percent who are slowpokes could be speeded up, highway traffic would be much safer than it is today.

One serious charge against the slowpoke is that he irritates other drivers, and irritation is recognized as a big factor in accidents.

The speeder, of course, should learn to control himself. But so should the slowpoke.

Postal Economics

POSTMASTER General Summerfield, a competent businessman, is struggling with the problem of improving the mail delivery service in the face of the fact that the Post Office Department is losing $2 million a day. Its costs have gone up $1.5 billion a year in recent years while rate increases cover only a fourth of this rise.

The President's request for a realistic adjustment of rates has been caught in the final rush of Congress, however, and no action can be expected until January. That leaves Mr. Summerfield's only present resource an overhaul of the slipshod business methods
so clearly pointed out by the Hoover Commission.

High among Mr. Summerfield's recommendations is a reform of the system of subsidies. It may be that a convincing case can be made, for example, for promoting the development of air transportation through subsidies. But this aid ought to be plainly shown, and examined on its merits, not concealed in the post office deficit.

The same goes for the huge charges incurred in carrying mail for congressmen, and for the governmental departments. Let the Congress appropriate a sum sufficient to pay its postage, and maybe its size will shame some legislators into reducing the volume of wastepaper they now load onto the backs of the letter carriers.

Be Alive This Winter

THE timely snatch of a Pottstown woman and her daughter from the hungry ocean waves at Wildwood is a stern reminder to use the greatest of caution in the cooling surf.

Often the calm surface of the briny deep hides the treacherous underflow and whirling eddies that lie beneath.

So when you're away on your vacation,
don't take a chance with the surf. Play safe.
Bathe in areas patrolled by lifeguards. And don't venture beyond the safety zone.

Prevent Home Fires

YOU can protect your family and home from fire by obeying a few simple rules.
Don't smoke in bed—Don't overload your wiring system—Don't use flammable cleaning fluids—Don't leave junk in the attic and

Dear Sir 'n' Brother:
Wal, I see by The Mercury where a Potts-

Talking about animals, in London, after a five

Probably tried hard, but just couldn't break an old

READERS SAY:

Park Is 'Living Memorial' to Dead

Replies to Mother
To the Editor: Having been interested in the youth of Pottstown for more than 57 years, I feel that I can answer
Mrs. Elsie Boyer's letter ("Memorial Interest Lacking," Readers Say, July 21).

True, there is no marker of any kind of Memorial park to perpetuate the memory of the boys who sacrificed their lives in World War II.

But we have started on the island a very nice and well constructed circle to represent the boys from all wars, and the park board is promised that it will be finished this Summer by the Ju-venis Club.

I have been interested in the park project since its inception in 1939, and have always felt that this recreation center should be a "living memorial"
to the dead.

I only wish that Mrs. Boyer (who, I know, wrote from the heart) and other gold star mothers could visit Memorial park on a day when, for instance, the knee-benders are playing baseball.

I feel the expressions on the faces of these youngsters (many of them sons or relatives of World War II veterans) would convince even the most skeptical that Pottstown truly has a "living memorial" to our heroic dead.

Financing the Memorial park project is our next serious problem. It is our hope and wish that some day we will be able to improve the facilities for promoting good sportsmanship, combating juvenile delinquency, and, in general, keeping our youngsters off the street.

I feel that we here in Pottstown are moving in the right direction as we make Memorial park a place in which the men of tomorrow will be trained for the life in front of them. The attendance at Memorial park is at least 25,000 a year, and includes people of all ages.

Memorial for Living

To the Editor: Responding to Mrs.
Elsie Boyer's ("Memorial Interest Lacking," Readers Say, July 21) letter regarding lack of interest in a war memorial.

The people of this community are not lacking in appreciation of the sacrifice made by our fathers, sons and sweethearts in giving their lives in the cause of freedom and right. We humbly bow our heads in thanksgiving and prayer.

But, let's put first things first; the problems of the living are far more important than the glorification of the dead.

What better memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice than the fine healthy bodies, minds and spirits of our youth of today, the parents and leaders of tomorrow?

To help create just that is the purpose behind the efforts of the men who are so gallantly striving to establish Pottstown Memorial park as a "living" memorial, a symbol of the appreciation of this community.

Your own selfish interest in this matter has blinded you to what is being done.
I would suggest you contact Carroll
Bechtel, who is president of Pottstown Memorial park and he will be delighted to go into detail concerning their progress and plans for the future of the park.

I might ask, just what have you and the gold star mothers done to help in this project?

If it were possible for you to ask any one of the boys who have given their lives for this nation what they would desire as a memorial, I'm certain the answer would be something that would benefit the living.

Pottstown Memorial park is and will continue to benefit the living in appreciation of those who inspired its development.

Living Monuments

To the Editor: Four score and ten years ago, many folks probably took Lincoln's advice about dedicating their lives "so that these dead shall not have died in vain."

When tragedy befalls us, there are lessons to be learned.

Then a Pasteur succeeds in mastering the microbe, a Lister will be able to do great and wonderful things in the field of antiseptics—if he seeks to do so!

Mothers whose sons are still with us need no monuments to remind us that the lessons of war are too easily forgotten by those not touched by the awful sacrifice!

However small our parts may be, we do our best—we pray!

Memorial Plaque Asked

To the Editor: In answer to ("Memorial Interest Lacking" Readers Say, July 31), concerning a memorial for our boys that have made the supreme sacrifice, I, too, feel as if Pottstown has already forgotten our boys, but a gold star mother never forgets.

We are not asking for anything elaborate, just a plaque that will have 122 World War II boys names on it and at present do not know exactly how many Korean veterans will have their names put on it, but plenty, I am sure.

We don't want this erected 10 or 20 years from now we want it now so we can see it before it is too late.

I really don't think we are asking too much from the town the size of Pottstown to just remember these brave boys (and the majority were only boys) that made it possible that you and I can enjoy this wonderful world a little longer.

GOLD STAR MOTHER

WASHINGTON
Military Training Drive
Seen for Next Congress

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—The bitter experiences of the Korean War and the gradual weakening of the anti-Russian alliance have strengthened the Administration's determination to stage a serious drive for a modified system of universal military training at the next session of Congress.

Another factor behind the decision is Washington's growing doubt that our European allies—Britain, France and Germany in particular—will ever agree and act upon the Eisenhower-Truman demand for organization of a strong European Defense Community, with adequate land, air and naval forces.
This basic goal of our policy of collective security seems more distant than ever.

Still a third consideration is the United Nations cannot or will not mobilize its full strength against an aggressor, when it happens to be one of the great powers.

On the contrary, even now London and Paris insist on a meaningless, piecemeal peace with Moscow, as well as Red China's admission to the United Nations, thereby rendering that organization less effective than it is today.

IN SHORT, the decision to ask Congress for inauguration of "national security training" to use its new and more palatable title, reflects the Capital's increasing disillusionment with the program of international cooperation under UN auspices.

While no high official dares to admit it publicly, the move represents a partial and tentative retreat to Herbert Hoover's plan for making over America into a self-sufficient
"Gibraltar" in a military way.

From the standpoint of domestic economy, the equipping and training of 1,600,000 men annually would be a permanent "shot in the arm" to business and industry.

ENTHUSIASTIC ADVOCATES

President Eisenhower's recently appointed commission to study the problem, which will report its findings to the White House on Dec. 1, is a "loaded" body. Both the new and the holdover members are enthusiastic advocates of this system. For years they have spoken and written in favor of it.

The proposed training would be less drastic than methods which Congress has rejected on several tests. On reaching 18, youngsters would spend six months in actual service under intensive schedules. Thereafter, as members of the reserve for seven-and-a-half years, they would go to camp for two weeks annually, and attend lecture-drill courses twice a month.

Proponents now argue that, unless this program is undertaken soon, the present draft system must be continued for 20 or 30 years.

Eisenhower's deep concern in this question is evident from his willingness to place such a controversial and emotional issue before Congress in a re-election year. He apparently believes that the tragic lessons of history since World War II will offset the politicians' fears.

The Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

(Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation. Her guest columnist today is the fabulously successful writer of hit parade songs, Bob Merrill.)

Bob Merrill Writes:

People often ask me how I get the ideas for such songs as "Doggie in the Window," "If I Knew You Were Comin'
I'd Be Baked A Cake," "Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania," and other American classics.

This is a fair question and it deserves an honest answer. As soon as I figure one out I will let them know.

Actually, "Doggie in the Window" was a 12-cup, five-pack song. That is the amount of coffee I gulped down and cigarettes I smoked before the first glimmer of an idea appeared (from whence I know not where) as I sat comfortably on my terrace, doodling frantically on a once-blank piece of legal-size stationery.

NEEDLESS TO say, in order to write a song as successful as "Dog-gie" you must have an electric coffee maker, a long pencil and a pair of lungs capable of withstanding more punishment than those of the residents of an apartment overlooking the Pittsburgh freight yards.

Once the basic idea of "Doggie" came to me I seized it by its wag-gily tail and swung it around until it took acceptable form. Then, out came my trusty toy xylophone and the tune was arrived at by the accepted and time-honored method, hit or miss.

The fact that "Doggie" in the Window" sold more than two million Patti Page records is a wonderful testimonial to the brand of coffee I drink, the cigarettes I smoke, and Patti Page.

ALL OF WHICH brings me to the bald fact that I hate music. You can lower those raised eyebrows. Here's what I mean:

Music, to the popular songwriter, is the most heinous form of organized enslavement since the feudal system. Once you've had a hit (which is any song any friend of yours says he heard on a disc jockey program) you're trapped.

No longer can you engage in easy idle or pleasant conversation with a friend. Any and every phrase he utters may be the one you're looking for to open a flood-gate of ideas.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

ARLENE D. is the wife who demanded a personal interview because her problem was so complicated and unique that she said it couldn't be expressed in writing.

But when I compelled her to write it down, it was simply the same old refrain which we marriage counsellors hear ten thousand times a week.

"After 15 years of happy marriage, I find that my husband is now infatuated with a 22-year-old girl at the office," she said.

But Arlene told a fib. Her husband hadn't been happily married to her for 15 years, or he wouldn't have become infatuated with another girl.

Arlene simply thought he was happy
just because she herself was satisfied.

That's a childish mistake of many wives. They seem to think "If I am happy in marriage, then my husband must be, too."

But that conclusion is not always true. And here's why:

MEN REQUIRE much more "erotic" calories to keep their hunger satisfied than do women.

For men were created to have the appetite for a small harem, herd or flock.

I'm talking frankly today because a lot of you supposedly sophisticated American women still haven't faced the simple "horse sense" facts about why marriages end in divorce.

You wives freely admit that men have more desire for meat and potatoes than you do. They require possibly 3500 gastric calories a day while you can be content on maybe 2500.

Chester Springs Rites Link Florence E. Wilson and Robert Bickhart

Wedding promises were recited Saturday afternoon by Florence E. Wilson and Robert P. Bickhart at an afternoon ceremony solemnized in Chester Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Vail, Chester Springs, are the parents of the bride, who made her home, before her marriage, at 239 Fourth avenue, Phoenixville.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roshong, 311 Bridge street, Phoenixville.

White asters, gladiolas, pompons and palm fronds decorated the altar of St. Matthew's Lutheran church in Chester Springs for the double ring marriage.

Officiating at the service was the Rev. Ralph H. Casner, pastor.

Before the wedding, organist Mrs. Robert Smiley played a recital of nuptial music.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a princess style gown of white chantilly lace and net over mossamer satin.

Topping the fitted bodice of the gown was a mandarin collar of lace, and the long, tapered sleeves sported deep ruffles at the cuffs. The sheer yoke was filled with illusion net.

Panel of chantilly lace alternated with net to form the bouffant skirt, which spread itself over layers of satin.

Seed pearls trimmed the headband chosen by the bride to fasten her fingertip veil of illusion net.

White a-t-e-r-s and pompons formed her bouquet, which was styled in a cascade arrangement and was tied with a shower of white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Jack S. Turner, Phoenixville, served as matron of honor and the bride's sole attendant.

She was clad in a gown of blue tulle and taffeta, with a full skirt of tulle.

Her strapless bodice was topped with a matching tulle stole.

For a headpiece, she wore a wreath of yellow asters, to match the flowers she carried in her bouquet.

Standing alongside the bride were Mrs. Jack S. Turner, Phoenixville, who served as matron of honor, and the bride's sole attendant, Mrs. Frank F. Hunsberger, secretary.

Mrs. Warren Kratz conducted the children's games and a ball game and quizz was played.

The day's activities came to an end with a chicken dinner.

After the services, the bridal party and about 120 guests moved to the social room of the church for the reception.

Bernice T. Grubb Becomes Bride at Rites in Grace Lutheran Church

Bernice T. Grubb, Spring City, and Otto Raessler Jr., Roversford, were united in marriage Saturday at an afternoon ceremony.

Grace Lutheran church, Roversford, was the setting for the double ring service.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Raessler, 419 Main street, Roversford, are the parents of the groom.

Mother of the bride is Susan Grubb, 307 Pleasant avenue, Spring City.

White ribbons encircled vases of gladiolas which were placed, amid palms, upon the altar for the service.

Pews were marked with white ribbons also, and the aisle was carpeted in white for the bride's entrance.

Officiating at the service was the Rev. Paul Henry, pastor.

Mrs. Ferdinand Malenke was the organist and Mrs. William Seal, Roversford, was soloist.

To approach the altar, the bride was attired in a gown of white chantilly lace over satin. Tiny buttons marched the length of her basque bodice, styled with a portrait neckline outlined in iridescent appliques.

Spreading beneath the wasp waistline was a full sheath overskirt over pleated tulle. The skirt ended in a cathedral length train.

Crowning the bride's hair was a queen's coronet which matched the iridescent decorations her gown. It anchored a circular veil of illusion net, which cascaded to chapel length.

Her bridal floral arrangement was tied with a shower of white satin ribbons.

Matron of honor was Mary Neister, Phoenixville RD 2. She was attired in a frock of yellow, fashioned with a yellow lace bodice beneath a matching "key-hole" jacket.

Her full skirt was made of net spread over layers of yellow taffeta.

Upon her head was a portrait picture hat in yellow and she completed her costume with matching mitts.

Bridesmaid was Joan Shoenaker, Phoenixville, and the two junior bridesmaids were Louise Raessler, a sister of the groom, and Virginia Grubb, a sister of the bride.

They wore gown and jacket styled identically to the honor attendant's, with matching mitts and portrait picture hats.

Both junior bridesmaids' frocks were pale blue, and the bridesmaid's gown was flamingo in shade.

Best man for the groom was Jack Longacre, Roversford.

Ushers were Jack Wagner, Roversford, and Donald Donahue, Roversford.

After the ceremony, a reception for nearly 150 guests was conducted at the Spring Ford Country club, where the bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake, frosted in white.

To receive, the mother of the bride elected to wear a gown of rose lace over silver taffeta, and accessories to match.

Blue lace over matching taffeta was the choice of the groom's mother, who selected white accessories. Rhinestones edged the neckline of her frock.

Both mothers pinned to their shoulders corsages of feathered carnations.

After the party, the newlyweds left for a week-long honeymoon in Canada and the New England states.

To travel, the bride selected a going-away costume of silk taffeta, deep pink in hue. Her accessories were white and she wore a white orchid corsage.

Upon their return, the newlyweds will make their home at the Town Hall apartments, in Roversford's Main street.

The bride was graduated from Spring City High school with the class of 1949.

Her husband, a 1945 graduate of Roversford High school, works for the Superior Tube company in Evansburg.

CASUALTIES LISTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. — The Defense department today identified 217 casualties in the Korean fighting which ceased July 27. A new list reported 20 killed, 185 wounded, 18 missing and 14 injured.

The first regular diesel-powered passenger service on US railroad was started in 1934, although diesel engines were used regularly as early as 1925.

Milton Eisenhower Reports on His Tour

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. — Milton S. Eisenhower today described South America as a "beehive" of expanding activity, and said it needs a large volume of private capital to continue its development.

In a report on his recent fact-finding tour of the 19 South American nations, the President's brother said it is important that each of these nations do all it can to attract private capital, both from abroad and from inside its borders.

"Given a favorable climate for investment," he said, "private and public finance then can and should take a long-range view of the opportunities. These opportunities can assume huge proportions."

In an obvious reference to an unsuccessful attempt at this session of Congress to curb US imports of Venezuelan oil, Eisenhower said:

"If we suddenly exclude products from one South American country, it simply means that country will have fewer dollars and must, therefore, buy less from us. And the change in the rules may have terrifying consequences to the economy of the nation so affected."

Some of England's churches have iron hooks or rings attached to the pews to which, in the Middle Ages, the parishioners attached the leashes of their hunting dogs.

Township Will Quiz Department on Road

Union township road supervisors (Berks county) last night agreed to again submit a letter to Harrisburg, asking the State Department of Highways what should be done to the road leading from Birdsboro to Hopewell.

Charles Care, secretary, reported that a letter had been received from Harrisburg but the State did not answer the board's question on repairing the road shoulders.

The board explained there are a great many holes and ruts along each side of the road.

Care also pointed out that a new road out of Hopewell running from the Krats farm to the Fire Tower will be completed by next week.

President David Shirey presided at the session held at the home of Levi Kulp.

"Charge it to Dad." ... Now my income is $10 a week."

MISS KEIM was quick to add that she didn't regret the changes in her life, particularly those since 1940 when she dedicated herself to evangelistic religion.

"I haven't seen a doctor. I haven't seen a dentist. I haven't been to a beauty parlor since 1940 when I turned everything over to the Lord," she asserted.

Since 1940, she took a course as ministerial missionary, at Eastern Bible Institute, and the past Spring was ordained in Laureldale, near Reading.

For 17 years she conducted the Craft House school and Hobby shop at the front of the family homestead. The conversion of the homestead will eliminate the craft house in favor of a more spacious porch.

She said, "The craft house just evaporated. A lot of things have evaporated."

Miss Keim added firmly, "But I have nothing to complain about. If the Lord wants me to have more, he'll see that I get it."

gave up several outside posts and a short time later, left his worrisome bank job to found an insurance business, which still is thriving.

Although yesterday's "Do You Remember?" photograph was on Page 13, The Mercury was besieged by calls on the photograph. They started before 8 a. m. and were still coming in late in the afternoon.

AMONG THOSE who identified Dr. Vedder positively were Mrs. Robert S. Heffner, 1005 High Street, and Robert S. Heffner Jr., both of whom knew Dr. Vedder personally.

Mrs. Frank Ackerman, 12 East Vine street, Stowe, who has a cousin who married a son of Dr. Vedder, brought the report on the Vedder family up to date. She said the doctor's widow is dangerously ill now in York, to which she and her family moved after Dr. Vedder's death more than a decade ago.

Others with the correct identification were Leroy Haas, 370 North Charlotte street; William H. Boyer, 212 East street; Mrs. J. Earl Fritz Sr., 89 West Fifth street; Donald G. Davis, 231 Wilson street; Robert Lewis, 11 North Hanover street; Dale Morris, 66 West Fourth street; Grace Hearnicks, 775 North Charlotte street; James Henry, 301 South Hanover street.

In addition, The Mercury switchboard reported, there were more than a dozen anonymous callers who said something like, "Say! About that unidentified doctor..."

PRESENT-DAY schools, such as this West End elementary school under construction at Walnut and Ryan streets, are far more costly than the schools of grandfather's day. Now it costs $15,000 a classroom to build one. Figures uncovered yesterday showed that, in 1887, even the most expensive kind of school construction cost only $300 a classroom. Typical of earlier school construction is that of Washington elementary school, Beech and Penn streets, pictured below. The present school board hopes the West End school will be finished by October.

7 in Sedan Escape Injury in Accident

Seven occupants of a sedan escaped injury when it went through a red light at High and Penn streets and collided with a Stowe man's coupe yesterday morning at 7:50 o'clock.

The Stowe man, Edward Boyer, East High street, Stowe, said that as he made a left turn from South Penn street onto High street, the green light with him, the east-bound sedan of Edward F. Ream Jr., Wyomissing, collided with the front of his car.

Ream said he saw the light was red for him, but too late. The right front of his sedan was damaged.

Sgt. Daniel J. Linton investigated.

ture required the better part of two years to complete.

The West End elementary school was begun the past March and is expected to be completed by October—seven months.

Another is the many extra facilities inside the school. Some of these in the West End elementary school, which will have a total cost of more than $200,000, were listed by Bickler.

"Perhaps the biggest single change," he said, "is the mechanical equipment." Among these are mechanical ventilation, central heating systems and, of course, the modern lavatories replacing the old out-buildings.

There also are, in the West End school, several rooms in addition to regular classrooms, Bickler pointed out. Among them are the all-purpose room, teachers' room, kindergarten room, and a room for storing musical instruments.

In the Gay Nineties, there was seldom any artificial light worth mentioning in a classroom. In the West End school, there will be

Kiwanians View Slides Of Alaska Hunting Trip

For nearly an hour last night, sports-minded Kiwanis club members sat watching slides of a hunting and fishing trip into the wilds of Alaska with envy.

Guest Ralph Levitz, who made the trip to the Yukon in August of 1951, narrated the slides as they appeared.

Program chairman during the dinner meeting was Lin Mauer, while Martin Felt introduced the speaker.

President William D. Mower presided at the session held at the Elks home. Sixty-four members attended.

said, schools often looked like a fortress or prison. Today, the trend in architecture is toward designing a school that will be a "factory for learning."

Road Supervisors Report on Project

A report on the construction of a new road at the east end of the township highlighted last night's meeting of the Limerick road supervisors.

In making the report Roadmaster Roy T. Miller, said with good weather the new strip should be finished in about 10 days. The road crew has now been near here today.

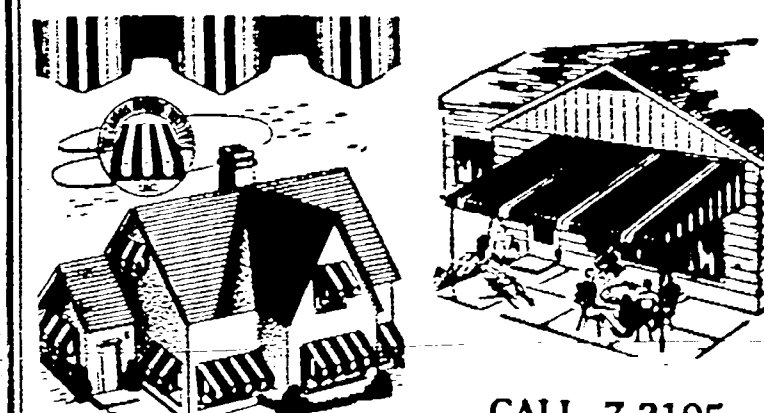

working for about three weeks on the construction, which will run from Sunset road in the township to Township Line road.

When finished the road will stretch for a mile and three-tenths. All members were present at the session last night with President Raymond G. Scheffley presiding.

SPEED is the Killer!

ARE YOU WILLING TO RISK your driving?

Yes, your driving privileges for 90 full days—if you are caught exceeding a posted speed limit. Pennsylvania strictly enforces its speed laws—and the penalty is suspension of your driver's license.

At this time of year it may mean losing that automobile trip you planned to take.

Then there are the still greater risks you run when you go too fast—injury or death. For speed is the cause of one out of three fatal traffic accidents—and a contributory cause of many others.

That is why we ask you to obey our speed laws. We have your welfare in mind!

COOPERATE WITH US BY FOLLOWING THE BEST TRAFFIC RULE OF ALL—THE GOLDEN RULE. TAKE TIME TO BE SAFE!

This is not a license to kill or injure. It will be revoked or suspended for cause.

SISTER STICKEL LEAVES HER POST AT RIVER CREST

Executive Secretary Off on Trip To Europe

MONT CLARE—Mrs. Thomas Carney, Bridge and Grace street, Mont Clare, Pa., Phone 6000, left for Europe on a trip to the Continent.

Sister Bertha Stickel, widely known and highly respected executive secretary of River Crest preventorium, Mont Clare, ended 15 years in public health work when she left for a European trip the past week.

Sister Bertha was recently surprised with a bon voyage party given by the Junior Auxiliary 3 to River Crest at the home of Mrs. Alexander Eusew, 1092 Lane avenue. Mrs. Joseph Kelly was co-hostess.

Following her trip, realization of a lifetime hope, Sister Bertha will not return to the Montgomery county preventorium of which she has been a part for the past 15 years. Her duties will be at Zion's Lutheran church, Baltimore, one of the oldest churches of the denomination in the U.S. where she will do parish work.

Her ability to speak German, which is still spoken by many of the parish members, will be a big help in her new duties. While in Germany she will visit the homeland of her parents and various mother houses in the area where her sisterhood originated.

Among them will be the original home where the order started and where the garb she now wears originated back in 1835.

ANOTHER mother house she hopes to stop at is one that was bombed out during the war and rebuilt by the sisters themselves out of rubble. The sisters went out and learned trades so they could reconstruct their chapel and other buildings.

Among her other stops in Germany will be visits with relatives whom she has corresponded for years but whom she has never met.

She will return to Baltimore to take up her new duties on October 1. Junior Auxiliary 3 presented her with a check in appreciation of her fine work and loyal friendship. Each member also presented her with a small personal gift.

Sister Bertha is a graduate of the Lankenau hospital School of Nursing in Philadelphia. Nine years before coming to the Mont Clare institution she worked at the Kensington dispensary for Tuberculosis in Philadelphia, an activity in which she still has a deep-rooted interest.

While at River Crest she has performed nursing duties, taught other nurses care of tuberculosis patients and served as a contact between the preventorium and auxiliaries and the public. In this role she has become known to most Mont Clare and Phoenixville residents.

Pvt. Kenneth Barlow was on a weekend leave with his wife, the former Joyce Faust, at her home at 937 Chestnut street. He will report to Camp Breckenridge, Ky., for a leadership training course. His wife will join him in about a week or two.

MURPHY CONFERS UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Robert Murphy, new assistant secretary of state for UN affairs, conferred today with UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld. Before seeing Hammarskjöld, Murphy was shown through UN headquarters by James J. Wadsworth, deputy chief of the US delegation.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DR. HAROLD PRIEST, of the University of Denver, hard put to entertain a rather stuffy colleague from abroad, hit upon the idea of taking him to a sprawling amusement park. The ultradignified Britisher never cracked a smile until they took a ride on a wild-and-woolly roller coaster. As they climbed out, the visitor observed, "I discovered as we went up the first incline that you just have time to recite half of Hamlet's soliloquy to yourself—then all Hell breaks loose!"

John Mason Brown, bound from one lecture date to another, found his whole tight schedule endangered by the non-arrival of a dinky little side-line local. He finally dug up a supremely unconcerned station master and inquired, "Think the train will get in before the next glacial age?" The local rail executive answered appeasingly, "Hold yer horses, mister! She'll be along inside the hour. Here comes the conductor's dog 'round the bend." Copyright, 1952, by Bennett Cerf. # Mother Leaps Into Well To Rescue Young Son

GREENVILLE, S. C., Aug. 4.—A young mother jumped into a 45-foot well near here today to rescue her 19-month-old son who was lying under four feet of water.

Mrs. Thelma Eshleman had removed the cover from the old well on her back porch to draw water for washing clothes. Other children ran and told her that the baby had fallen into the well.

"The only thing I could think to do was to jump down in there," Mrs. Eshleman told firemen after they had pulled her and the baby from the well with a rope. Neither the mother nor the baby was hurt.

Hal Endy's strong pitching arm carried Jacobs into the City Softball league playoffs last night as he fanned 15 Redbird batters in winning, 6-2.

Jacobs needed the win to keep from falling into a fourth-place tie with PAA. Redbirds missed their chance to sew up the runnerup spot and will now have to await the outcome of the Schwaab-PAR game tomorrow night. If PAR beats the leaders, a tie for second place will develop.

Endy saved one of his best pitching efforts of the year for an important game. Not until his team had a 6-0 lead did Hal give up a run.

IT WAS ENDY'S single in the first inning that drove in Mike Saraceni with the first run. From then on his mates backed him up with some timely hitting to push across two more in the initial frame, another in the third, and a final pair in the fourth.

Three of the Redbirds' five hits were doubles. Sam Fry, Moeck Weber and Leo Peroni all hit for an extra base.

Endy and Saraceni each had two safeties for the winners.

The German club nipped PAA last night, 6-5, in a Junior league game.

PAA, who has yet to win a league game, started off by punching across two runs in the first inning, and adding two more in the second. It couldn't keep up the pace, however, as the German club bounced back with five runs in the third to take the lead. The Germans added one more, the one that turned out to be the winning run, in the fourth, then settled down to blank PAA for the next two innings.

PAA tried to rally in the seventh, putting one across, but couldn't tie the game.

Ted Wampler had a triple for PAA. Bill Shaner, PAA hurler, walked none, allowed only six hits, and struck out 11, but it wasn't enough to stave off the German club.

Night of Near Misses

Amvets Finish 3d in CIL, Beat Forgers, 6-5

Maybe they're using smaller bases this year, or possibly it was too dark to see, but at any rate only one—instead of three—home runs was hit in the City Industrial League last night. Amvets defeated Valley Forge, 6-5, in the final regular season game for both teams.

The oddity of two base runners being called out on apparent home run balls because they failed to touch a base, highlighted the game which was played in a heavy gloom throughout.

Victims of careless footwork were the Forgers' Mark Vallari and Bob Cannel of Amvets. Cannel deprived himself of becoming the 1953 CIL king after hitting his first home run in the fourth inning. No league player has more than one.

As it was, his second hit that dwindled to a double when he failed to touch third base, drove in the winning run in the bottom of the fifth frame. Chip Mignona scored from first on Cannel's drive to right center, and the game was called with the Amvets out in front by one run.

THE VICTORY gives Amvets a final record of 10-5 and a third-place finish in the standings. The Forgers dropped their 11th game in 15 starts and did not make the playoffs which begin next week.

Amvets had better hire a roller to level out right field before play-off time because last night, for the second straight game, a bad bounce put them in trouble in the first inning.

With Doug Rhoads going after his fourth victory, Valley Forge picked up its first run on a walk to Herb Rosenberg and Bill Hentz' drive to right. The ball was a clean hit but as Galen Royer came in to field it, a bump in the turf lifted the ball over his head and Hentz romped for a triple.

The Vets refused to remain on the short end as Jack Kurtz led off the bottom half of the first with a single to left. He stole second and moved to third on a pass ball as Norm Sundstrom was waiting for a walk.

Mignona pulled one of Jim McManus' knuckle balls into left for a double to drive in two runs.

IN THE FOURTH, Amvets gained a better advantage as Cannel started a three-run scoring spree with his first homer of the year between the left and center fielders.

It was becoming very dark as Frank Formando and Mule Davidheiser drew walks off McManus. Both runners moved up a base on a wild pickoff throw to second by catcher Vallari.

Rhoads socked his second hit of the game to center field to score Formando and Davidheiser.

The sky brightened considerably as the Forgers took their bases in the fifth and so did their chances of winning the game.

McManus opened with a walk and moved to second on a free pass to Gary Babjeck, Forgers new shortstop who looked exceptionally good in the field handling three tough chances in clever style.

Rosenberg slapped a single to center that scored McManus and moved Babjeck to third. Hentz made the second out on a fly to center but Babjeck scored after Mignona's catch.

JOE LEMAY belted a double that sent Rosenberg in with the fourth run and the Forgers were whooping it up. They were down-right hilarious when Mignona missed a shoe string catch on Valley Forge's 11th.

Ring Hill Beats Linfield to Cinch Tie for 1st Place in Suburban League

Ring Hill assured itself of no worse than a tie for first place in the Suburban League by defeating Linfield last night, 9-2. In the only other game reported in the league last night, Gabelsville knocked Sanatoga out of the playoff picture with an 11-2 win.

George Saumman took a turn on the mound for the Hillers and gave up only three hits to the last-place Sportsmen. He bested Walt Kalil, who started, and reliever Bill Fedyk and George Kuterbach.

The winners collected nine hits, including triples by Tony Lucarelli and Bob Harner. Harner also smacked a double, and Kuterbach had Linfield's only extra-base hit, a two-bagger.

In gaining the win, Nester struck out eight and walked three. Bob Gincley was the starter and loser and he received help from Clarence Albitz and Ralph Kappen-

State Boxing Title Bouts Suggested

HARRISBURG, Aug. 4.—The Pennsylvania Athletic commission today suggested a series of eliminations to determine a State boxing champion in each division.

The plan is designed to produce more live boxing bouts in a state that was once a hot bed of the sport.

"We have plenty of good Pennsylvania boxers but we need more promoters to stage fights here instead of taking our good men out of the state," said chairman George J. Jones Jr., Williamsport.

The night's scoring started when Coventry Brethren tied in the first as Gordon Wampler walked and Bob Swavely doubled. Wampler was caught in a rundown on Dick Goss' fielder's choice. Swavely went to third and Goss stole second. Franny Wampler grounded to first, scoring Swavely.

Emmanuel came right back in the bottom of the first with three runs. George Keller singled and went to second as the first baseman missed the ball on an attempted pickoff. He scored on Goss' error of Ben Lapish's pop-up. Paul Herb singled Lapish, and Wilmer Astheimer tripled Herb home.

EMMANUEL PADDED its lead in the second, Coventry Brethren in the sixth when Lapish singled

WHITE SOX RUMORED TO BE SPLIT WITH DISSENTION

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—The Chicago White Sox, in hot pursuit of the pace-setting New York Yankees, today were vexed by extracurricular trouble.

Ferris Fain, Sox first sacker who led the American league in batting the past two seasons, had frosted Manager Paul Richards' cake of woe with his alleged tavern brawl of Monday at Washington.

But that wasn't all. The Chicago American today said it was rumored dissension had hit the Sox and that when a locker topped on tobacco-chewing Nellie Fox in Washington Sunday night, it occurred during a club-house brawl involving Fain.

Fox was pinned under the locker and suffered leg injuries. The bantam Sox second sacker described the rumor as ridiculous. Fox said the locker tumbled on him when he reached for some benched a day or two by the injury, tooth paste.

Attendants in the visiting quarters of Griffith field added to the confusion by saying Bob Feller of Cleveland, a bear for calisthenics, loosened the locker by doing chin-up in previous Tribe visits.

FAIN IS fleeing a $50,000 damage suit resulting from his reported tavern altercation on the outskirts of Washington. He popped a fellow who complained he had one tooth knocked out and had to have five more extracted. Fain admits he was knocked down by a punch between the eyes. The dispute reportedly stemmed from a dance floor incident.

Frank Lane, general manager, said today the Sox planned to "stand behind Fain in this affair and give him any legal help he desires."

Fain rejoined the Sox today in

Burdette and Campy Almost Mix It Up

MILWAUKEE, August 4.—If there had been as much conversation between Lew Burdette and Roy Campanella last night as by standers reported today, the curfew would have halted the controversy.

As it was, the row between the Braves' pitcher and the Brooklyn catcher after Campanella had to dodge twice in the process of striking out took only seconds.

What happened was that Campy went down swinging on a full count, started toward the dugout then veered toward the mound, brandishing his bat. Plate umpire Tom Gorman and Braves catcher Del Crandall headed him off, both benches miffed about a few minutes and quiet was restored.

Burdette said Campanella yelled something at him after the third strike.

"I didn't quite hear what he said," Burdette said, "but I think I read his lips correctly. If I did, the words were unprintable. But I didn't even answer him."

Campanella said, "I didn't say a word, not a word. I just looked at him and he shouted and that's when I started after him."

HOWEVER, THE DODGERS' Jackie Robinson—like Campanella a Negro—had a good deal more to say on the subject than either of the principals.

"He called Campy a blank blank nigger," Robinson charged. "He called me practically the same thing last week in Brooklyn. This is the first time I heard that word used since I broke into the major leagues. I don't see how he can face those three fellows on his team."

The Braves have three Negroes—centerfielder Bill Bruton, shortstop Jim Pendleton and infielder George Crowe—on their roster.

Burdette retorted that he "didn't say any such thing. I don't know why he got mad about having to go down. That's all part of the game. Pitching is my bread and butter and I intend to keep on pitching the way I have been."

The right-hander has an 8-2 record, graduating from the bullpen only 10 days ago. Another, Braves pitcher, southpaw Johnny Antonelli, also had a brush with Campanella earlier this season.

Meanwhile, Dodger officials said that as far as they knew no formal action would be taken and Gorman indicated his report to the league would treat the whole matter lightly.

Trucks Wins No. 14 Against Athletics, 8-3

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4 — Walk and Bob Boyd, filling in for Veteran Virgil Trucks fireballed a first baseman Ferris Fain, singled 4th batter at the Philadelphia Athletics tonight as the Chicago White Sox came through with a 6-run victory in the fourth inning to win the 14th game of the season. The Athletics scored their first on Joe DeMaestri's double, an infield out ahead to the vital weekend series with the league-leading New York Yankees, pitched Trucks tonight instead of the announced starter so he would be available for service on Saturday or Sunday. And the White Sox gave him plenty of working margin in the fourth. Fred Marsh opened with a

Cubs Down Giants On Rush's Pitching

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 — Bob Rush effectively scattered seven hits and drove across the two decisive runs for a Chicago Cub 5-3 victory over the New York Giants today in a game delayed 35 minutes by rain. The defeat, New York's seventh in its last nine starts on a current Western trip, was charged to starter Sal Maglie first of four Giant pitchers. Rush held the Giants to three hits until the ninth inning when four blows produced two New York runs. It was Big Bob's sixth victory against nine defeats. Clyde McCullough's fourth homer of the season gave the Cubs a 1-0 lead in the third inning. After Dee Fondy spanked a 4th-inning Cub triple, the skies opened and the game was held up almost an hour. Ransom Jackson's single then scored Fondy and Maglie left the game. It was the seventh loss against eight triumphs for Maglie, who was followed to the mound by Al Corwin, Hoyt Wilhelm and Dave Koslo. In the fifth, the Cubs made it 3-0 on two walks and Fondy's single which brought on Wilhelm. The Browns clinched the game in the sixth with a pair driven across by Rush. Eddie Miksis singled and Hal Jeffcoat was safe on an attempted sacrifice when Wes Westrum fumbled the ball. After McCullough's sacrifice, Rush spanked his big single. Monte Irvin's 19th homer gave the Giants their first run in the seventh. In the ninth, New York scored twice with two out. Hank Thompson and Irvin singled to open the frame. Don Mueller forced Irvin and Bobby Thomson popped out, but Dave Williams and Sam Calderone slammed singles to score Thompson and Mueller.

FEEL RELAXED!

Quite a blow, last night, wasn't it, Elmer? asked one tiller of the soul of his neighbor.

Yep, shore was, the friend replied, chewing on a wisp of straw. "Damage your barn any?" questioned the first man.

"Dunno," the second farmer replied as he spat out the straw. "Hain't found it yet."

Council Agrees to Protest Installation Of Automatic Railroad Crossing Gates

If the Reading Railroad proceeds with plans to install automatic type safety gates at the hill, which he claimed, presents a Main street grade crossing in hazard and a danger to motorists, Royersford, it will be over the protest of borough council.

Action to file a formal protest was taken at the monthly meeting Monday night, when it was reported the railroad seeks to obtain PLC approval without even a public hearing.

Burgess Ralph H. Landes, in recommending a protest be filed, pointed out he was aware the railroad is installing them in many communities, but he cited the one local condition which does not exist in other places.

He referred to the Main street crossing, which he claimed, presents a Main street grade crossing in hazard and a danger to motorists, Royersford, it will be over the protest of borough council.

When the hill is covered with ice or snow.

BURGESS LANDES explained the crossing watchman now on duty frequently goes out and places cinders or ashes at danger spots. If the automatic gates are installed, he pointed out, there will be nobody there to cope with an emergency.

"We haven't had an accident there in all these years," the burgess added, "and we don't want any."

COUNCIL TABLES RESIGNATION OF BOROUGH COP

Action Is Taken Pending Further Discussion

Spring City borough council tabled the resignation of Patrolman Arthur Penrose, at its monthly meeting Monday night. The resignation of Penrose was submitted the past week, effective as of Aug. 3. Council withheld action pending further discussion. Applications have been received for the post, but no action was taken on them.

On the suggestion of Burgess Benjamin Berolet, council requested Street Commissioner Charles A. Shenfield to bring monthly reports to meetings in the future. The burgess explained many pertinent questions arise that can be answered only by the commissioner; since they come under his supervision.

A letter from Keystone Drawn Steel company pledged co-operation with council's recent order to remedy conditions relative to industrial waste being discharged into the sewage system.

Council had ordered the concern to cease discharging its waste into the system under threat of cutting it off, because it was reported it was destroying the effectiveness of the new secondary type disposal plant.

THE COMPANY advised council it would not let waste go into the system until the condition has been remedied and has turned the matter over to an engineer.

The secretary was directed to notify John J. Brown, 205 South Main street, to cut weeds and to dump refuse over the edge at the lower dump, for which he had been given permission, but failed to abide by the instructions.

Complaint of a resident about Cedar street was turned over to the health committee. Owners of the former Franklin street school were ordered to cut weeds.

Building permits were granted to: Spring City Methodist church, to bury a fuel oil tank and change heating system; William Woodland, Cedar street, to install concrete pavement; Harold Stroop, 165 Chestnut street, addition to rear of house; Harlan McVeigh, to build house on King street, and Paul Spohn, to install curb and gutter on Cedar street.

Report of Tax Collector Norman Mowrey listed credits of $11,784.87 and an outstanding balance of $25,564.06.

Treasurer Benjamin Genung reported a balance of $68,027.85 in the general fund, parking meter collections, $391.32; fines, $10, and permits, $4.

Looking Ahead In Life

Works in Factory

This is the 13th in a series of Mercury articles showing how Pottstown's high school and college age boys and girls are pitching in with their contribution to American enterprise. As the articles show, the young people aren't just looking toward the future; they're working toward it.

Ismar Schorsch, 17-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Emil Schorsch, 338 Chestnut street, intends to learn a profession when he goes to college but that doesn't keep him from appreciating the full value of his summertime job in a Pottstown plant.

A first-shift maintenance worker for Doehler-Jarvis division, he'll enter Cranstown college in the fall. He was graduated from Pottstown Senior High school the past June.

Between the $400 scholarship awarded him the past June by Pottstown Teachers association and the money he will earn in this and future Summers at Doehler's, Schorsch said, "I'll be able to finance my entire college and maybe even save a little for post-graduate work."

SCHORSCH, whose father is rabbi of Mercy and Truth synagog, hasn't decided definitely what profession he'll enter eventually. "There are a lot of question marks in my future," he said not unhappily.

But his experience at Doehler's should be useful whatever he does, Schorsch added. "It's given me an insight into American industry, something I knew very little about," he said. "It's one of the biggest parts of American life, and I think everyone should know something about it, no matter what profession he follows."

Pointing out that his main-

SYDNEY, Aug. 4 (U)—Eight-year-old Jean Palmer of Melbourne, has left Sydney on her sixth round-the-world tour. Her father, George F. Palmer, is director of a Melbourne travel agency.

Jean has spent only about 18 months at home in the past five years. In those years she has traveled about 200,000 miles by ship. With her parents she has been to the West Indies, the United States, Britain, Europe, Egypt, Hong Kong and Japan, and has just completed a holiday in Tahiti.

Her father said Jean takes correspondence lessons from a Melbourne school while she is away. She recently passed an examination in all but one subject—geography.

Old Fire Trucks Get Added Life

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4 (U)—Some pretty old equipment is being used to fight fires in Pittsburgh these days. Leo Gill, director of automotive equipment found old equipment stored away and decided to rebuild the old fire engines, some purchased in 1914.

Adding engines here, new tires there and topping them off with fancy paint, jobs. Gill found he was some first class fire trucks. Pittsburgh is accustomed to paying out $20,000 or more for each new piece of fire equipment.

Fire Chief Stephen Adley, pointing to a reconditioned rig which originally was purchased in 1914, said:

"This is a better rig now than when it was brand new."

Polato Patch Find Uncovers Lost Ring

CLAREMORE, Okla., Aug. 4 (U)—J. D. Taylor, retired Claremore grocer, has a Masonic ring he lost 26 years ago because Bill Reynolds dug up an old potato on his farm near Wagoner the past week.

Reynolds found the ring in a clod of dirt around the potato. A story of the discovery was printed in the Tulsa World and read by Taylor. He got in touch with Reynolds and identified the ring as the one he lost.

Whitewash by Books

DUBUQUE, Ia., Aug. 4 (U)—Girls here are proving better than the boys at "whitewashing" a fence. The fence is a miniature cardboard affair in the Dubuque public library.

Each child is assigned one picket, and for each book he reads during the Summer he is given a small white square of paper to paste on his board. About 15 books "paint" one board.

BUILDING PROGRESS of the new Grace Lutheran church, Charlotte street and Nightingale ave nue, continues at a good pace. Here, four cement arches which will support the front of the building facing Charlotte street stand stripped of forms and scaffolding. Forms and scaffolds remain on two center arches. Groundbreaking for the big church took place this past Feb. 22. The Rev. Edgar S. Brown Jr., estimates the congregation will be worshipping in the new structure within a year.

Grangers to Sponsor Old Fashioned Music

Barber shop ballads and old-fashioned fiddling will enliven the meeting of the Sanatoga Grange tonight.

It will be "old time music night" for the Grangers—the first program of its kind they have held.

Mary Ann Rapp will be in charge of the program.

Among the performers will be a male quartet, an old time fiddler, and other groups and soloists. Both vocal and instrumental numbers will be included.

Lecturer Edward H. Scheffey said the costumes of the musicians will be in keeping with the music—going back to the Gay '90s or thereabouts.

There may even be some handle bar mustaches in view, he added.

In old age a person may get shorter because of partial disappearance of discs of cartilage between vertebrae.
